Book Chat Club

Calling all book lovers aged 12 to 16 years old!
 The Margaret River Bookshop starts a Book Chat Club.

What is a Book Chat Club?

It's a club for people aged 12-16 who love reading books. Each month we will discuss what we have read and give recommendations (推荐) to other members. There will not be a "set" of books that every member needs to read. Each time we will choose a theme and you pick a book that you think fits.

The book can be one from your own collection or something you have read at the school library. Actually, we don't mind where you found the book. What we want to know is your thoughts on it.

There will be prizes for the best review of the month and free snacks!

If you want to join us, please complete our sign-up sheet at the bookshop.

The love of Yuan Rishe for the environment grew out of a story she heard as a child: Having failed to find a way to recycle her used batteries (电池) in China, a German woman brought them back to Germany. After learning that batteries could cause pollution, Yuan started saving the used ones from her toys in a bag. When she heard that a children's group was recycling used batteries, she immediately sent them there.

In 1999, 6-year-old Yuan organized a paper-recycling activity. Her team put a box at the back of their classroom and used it to collect wastepaper. The money they made by selling wastepaper was then used to buy seeds to plant. After that, children in other cities did the same. The activity also made Yuan the only school student to win a Ford Conservation and Environmental Grant (福特汽车环保奖) in 2001.

In 2004, Yuan planned to plant 2,008 trees with other children at the end of 2008. However, after her plan was announced, many students threw cold water on it, rather than encourage Yuan. Yuan turned to Wei Guiying for help. Wei offered 0.7 hectares of land to help her. Besides, with the help of school students across the country, Yuan's plan was completed ahead of time.

Now, Yuan hopes to plant the seeds of environmental protection in her students. "It's great to see them changing little by little and learning from every environmental protection activity," she says.

31. Why did Yuan collect the used batteries?

- A. Yuan wanted to win a big prize.
- B. A German woman told her to do it.
- C. Yuan needed to send them to a group.
- D. The used batteries could be harmful to the environment.

32. How old was Yuan when she received her Ford grant?

- A. 6
- B. 8
- C. 10
- D. 12

33. What did many students think of Yuan's plan when she announced it?

- A. It might not work.
- B. It was very meaningful.
- C. It would make her famous.
- D. It could take longer to complete.

34. Who played an important role in Yuan's plan?

- ① Wei Guiying
- ② Yuan's students

③ The children's group

④ Other school students

A.①②

B.①④

C.②③

D.③④

35. What influence does Yuan have on her students?

- A. They can meet a lot of famous people.
- B. They will spend more time studying plants.
- C. They can get along better with each other at school.
- D. They may become more active in environmental activities.

AI(人工智能) can help teenagers and students learn in several ways.

Personalized learning: AI can know better about students, including their advantages, weaknesses, skills, learning favorites, learning needs, and so on. Then it can create a proper learning plan for each student. This can help students concentrate on areas that they need to improve at their own speed.

Interactive(交互的) learning: AI has the ability to make learning more interactive and interesting. Things like interactive learning apps and educational games can make subject learning more interesting. What's more, they can make students interested in a subject at once. This kind of active learning is sure to be more helpful than studying alone.

Automated(自动化的) advice and help: AI can provide automated advice and answers to questions. It can examine students' work and provide personalized help. For example, ChatGPT can answer students' questions quickly in a private, low-pressure way. This kind of advice and answers can help students better understand knowledge and use their knowledge.

Greater resources(资源): AI can make many of the students' learning resources richer and wider, like electronic textbooks, online courses, and study apps. For example, a biology textbook with AI technology may provide interactive 3-D models of a human body that students can study more carefully. AI can provide interactive examples, introduce important passages, and offer assessments(评价).

In a word, AI has a great ability to improve studying and learning. By using AI, students can study more wisely and reach higher levels of learning and success. The future of AI in education is hopeful as technologies continue to develop.

- D. Find out students' learning speed.

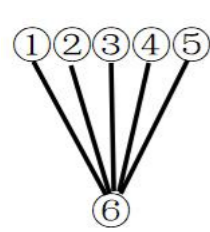

37. How might students feel about educational games?

- A. Interesting.
- B. Traditional.
- C. Difficult.
- D. Knowledgeable.

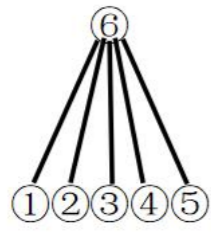

38. Why does the writer give an example of a biology textbook in Paragraph 5?

- A. To show biology is easy to learn.
- B. To describe something more about 3-D.
- C. To show AI can provide rich resources.
- D. To introduce a way of assessment.

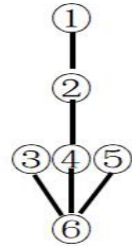

39. What's the correct structure of the passage?

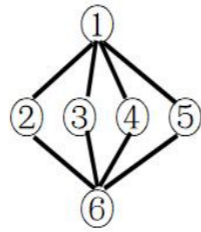

A.

B.

C.

D.

40. What's the best title for the passage?

A. AI is much better than a teacher

B. AI needs new technologies

C. AI—a smart help for learning

D. AI—hopeful or hopeless
